LI. GEORGE AND CURZON TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

British Acceptance Says Both Will Do Utmost To Be Present

GIVE LABOR VOICE

Gompers' Request Meets With Approval Of Pres. Harding

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 23.—In accepting the official invitation of the United States to the Disarmament Conference, the British Government stated that Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Curzon would do their utmost to be present at the deliberations of the Conference.

The Temps understands that, independently of Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Curzon, the British delegation will consist of Mr. Balfour, Sir Cecil Hurst and Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador at Washington.

Speaking before the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, Mr. Gompers declared that President Harding had approved the request that the working classes should be represented at the Disarmament Conference.

BOURGEOIS TO HELP VIVIANI IN LEAGUE SESSION

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 23.—The Assembly of the League of Nations will meet on September 5, a few days following the meeting of the Council of the League which has been called to examine the question of Upper Silesia.

The Intransigeant states that it is not yet officially confirmed whether M. Leon Bourgeois will be the French delegate at the meeting of the Council on August 29. On the other hand, it is already known that at the plenary sitting of the Assembly of the League on September 5, the three French delegates will be M.M. Leon Bourgeois, Rene Viviani and Gabriel Hanotaux, and that they will be accompanied by four auxiliary delegates, an adjunct-delegate and numerous technical experts, including M. Fromageot, Legal Adviser to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

WON'T COMMIT HIMSELF
(Reuter's Service)

Madrid, August 23.—Senor Quinones de Leon, has declined to comply with the request of Viscount Ishii that he should make an elucidatory statement to the League of Nations Council (on which he represents Spain) in regard to Upper Silesia.

DE LEON REFUSES

London, August 24.—Senor de Leon's action is attributed to German insinuations as regards his proposed attitude on the Upper-Silesian question, and, according to Reuter's Madrid correspondent, to the public distaste in Spain for Spanish intervention in the matter. Reuter's Paris correspondent says it is stated in diplomatic circles there that Viscount Ishii does not regard Senor de Leon's refusal as final.

R38 To Have Her Weather By Wire In Atlantic Trip

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 23.—The airship R38 left Howden this morning for a 24 hours' flight, after which she will proceed to Pulham, prior to making a flight to America. During her trial flight she carries 47 persons, including 20 Americans.

When R38 is making her trans-Atlantic flight—it is hoped that she will start on Sunday—there will be five American warships stationed in the Atlantic, including a fuel-ship, in addition to a flotilla of destroyers with meterological officers on board wirelessing weather reports to the airship. The latter will wireless details of the voyage to Britain and America.

Cordillere's Crew Leap For Lifeboats As Liner Turns Over On Her Side

French Steamer Total Loss, Shipping Men Fear Lighters Unable To Get Off Cargo—First Big Wreck In Years Unattended By Loss Of Life

At 5:30 yesterday afternoon the radio officer of the steamer Cordillere, aground on the Tungsha Spit in the mouth of the Yangtsze, sent a last S.O.S., the crew sprang to their life boats, cleared the side, and the ship slowly turned over on her starboard beam.

Shanghai shippers have been pessimistic about the refloating of the Cordillere, owned by the Messageries Maritimes, since she straddled the mud bar at the Yangtsze entrance in the early hours of Monday morning. Tugs have been attempting to pull the vessel into deep water, but without even budging her from the mud bed. The 34 passengers and mail arrived in Shanghai by tender Tuesday night. The saloon stewards and cabin servants, who number 25, were brought here by the French cruiser yesterday.

The heavy listing of the Cordillere increased so rapidly during the successive periods of low water that the crew stood on the alert to quit the ship from Tuesday night on. With each return of the tide the vessel straightened slightly, only to list more as the water receded. It was impossible for the tenders to get alongside save when the tide was at its highest, and then only for a short time. However, the tender Victoria was waiting to pick up the boats of the crew as they left the capsized ship. The crew numbering nearly 200 will be quartered in the French camp near the French wireless station. The Messageries Co. has engaged rooms for the 14 officers at the Kalee Hotel, where they will arrive this morning.

SAY LIGHTS DRIFTED

A possible explanation of the grounding of the Cordillere, the Glaucus of the Blue Funnel line, and a third steamer, the Henrik, may be found in the report from the coast inspector that the Drinkwater Point Light vessel, in the north channel entrance to the Yangtsze, is out of position and lies about one mile and a quarter south, and 85 degrees west of her advertised position. The Cordillere and Glaucus went aground within half a mile of each other. The supposition is that the channel light had been extinguished by the typhoon, and the pilots were forced to take their bearings on the pilot ship which evidently had been blown northward by the storm.

The Cordillere was built in the Messageries Maritimes shipyard at La Ciotat, near Marseilles, in 1897, and was immediately put on the South American run, from Bordeaux to Lisbon, Rio Janiero and Buenos Ayres. In 1912 she was transferred to the Far Eastern run, and has been a regular visitor to Shanghai ever since. The vessel is of 10,000 tons displacement, 444 feet in length, and equipped with engines of 7,000 H. P. Passenger accommodation was 114 first class, 77 second, and 78 third.

The local agent for the Messageries Co. gave little hope last night of being able to save any of the cargo, which consists of cotton, wine, dyes, and other French commodities for Shanghai and Japan. The water in which the Cordillere is lying is so shallow that even a steam launch cannot get alongside save for a short time in high tide. The cargo will be ruined and water soaked, even if it can be partially recovered. The manifest has been received, but the agent does not know the value of the cargo, and has cabled the Paris office for further information about what the ship carried. The ship and cargo were insured, but the local office does not know to what extent.

The Messageries agent stated that the passengers booked to sail on the return voyage of the Cordillere could either have their money back, or reserve passage on the steamer Armand Behic sailing early in October, or the steamer Andre Lebon, scheduled for the third week in the same month.

GLAUCUS STILL FAST

The situation of the steamer Glaucus is about the same as it was yesterday. The list of the vessel is not so heavy as was that of the Cordillere up to the time she keeled over. The agents, Butterfield and Swire, are nevertheless very anxious concerning the Glaucus, and have ordered two steamers, the Elpenor and the Kiukiang, to assist the tugs in towing her off the bar.

The third steamer, the Henrik, chartered by the Kailan Mining Administration, ran aground Monday on the Liuchiao Bank during high tide. Her captain reported there is no danger. The Henrik carried 2,000 tons cargo, mostly coal, in coastwise trade. Liuchiao Bank is also in the north channel, about five miles in from the Drinkwater Point light.

As the St. Dominic, the Victoria and other tenders have been standing by the Cordillere and Glaucus it was impossible to send tugs to the ship's assistance until yesterday.

UNIONIST MOB AND CATHOLICS IN BITTER FIGHT

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 23.—The Belfast correspondent of the Westminister Gazette reports a fresh outburst of disorder yesterday evening in a number of small streets in the Catholic quarter, near the spot where a bomb was thrown on Sunday night. It is alleged that a Unionist mob, armed with rifles and revolvers, made an organised attack on the Catholics. A fierce fight ensued and the curfew regulations were disregarded. After a lull in the firing the Catholics retreated, but the Unionists attacked their dwellings, smashing the windows. The Catholics thereupon re-emerged but found the streets in darkness. The police then arrived and fired on the opposing crowds. Order was restored by midnight.

ASTRAKHAN, FULL OF FILTH, MUST BE INCINERATED

(Reuter's Service)

Stockholm, August 23.—The Svenska Dagbladet publishes the following telegram from Helsingfors: "The Soviet Commissary at Astrakhan has informed the Moscow Government that Astrakhan is so full of filth that it is useless to try and fight the cholera. He recommends that the inhabitants be evacuated to Siberia, and that the town be destroyed by fire."

MOOR MAY GOAD SPAIN TO MAKE FRANCE AN ALLY

(Reuter's Service)

Madrid, August 23.—According to a despatch from Melilla, General Berenguer, the Spanish Commander-in-Chief in Morocco, considers that the men and material at his disposal are sufficient to enable him to start a new offensive before the rainy season begins. In the meantime the Moors are resuming hostilities and persistently attacking Spanish food convoys.

Senor Quinones de Leon, the Spanish Embassador in Paris, has arrived in Madrid. This visit is much commented on, and it is believed that France is make overtures, with a view to common action by France and Spain in Morocco.

Ban Is Lifted In France From Russ Paper Petty Cash

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 23.—The decree of 1919, prohibiting the entry of Russian money and banknotes into France, has been abrogated, following upon a report of the Ministry of Finance, which says that the decree was primarily based on political grounds. In view of the total collapse of the paper rouble exchange the enforcement of the decree is considered to be no longer needed, while as regards the entry of metal coin, the decree was ineffective, as coin was easily introduced in the shape of ingots.

POLICE PROVE KALEE TRAGEDY WAS ACCIDENT

Theory Mr. Alexander Lang Committed Suicide Is Found Baseless

FELL FROM HIGH WINDOW

Investigation Shows Victim Plunged To Roadway After He Struck Roof

Investigation by the police has fully established that the Kalee Hotel tragedy of last Friday in which Mr. Alexander Lang, a newcomer here, plunged to his death from a room in the top story of the hostelry was an accident. The theory that Mr. Lang committed suicide has proved to be unfounded.

Mr. Lang came to Shanghai on August 11 to assume the post here of representative of Robert Grant and Company, a leading steel and iron concern of Glasgow, Scotland. On the night of his death he had dinner with Mr. C. T. Clack, New York manager of Robert Grant and Company, who has been in charge of the Shanghai agency pending Mr. Lang's arrival. He was not observed around the hotel in the later part of the evening and at two o'clock he was found dying in Kiukiang Road beneath the window of the room he occupied.

Mr. Lang was a native of Coatbridge, a steel center near Glasgow and when he came to Shanghai he left there a wife and seven children who were to have followed him to Shanghai. It was found that after parting with Mr. Clack last Thursday night Mr. Lang visited a boarding establishment in the Quinsan Gardens district and entered into negotiations for living quarters explaining at the time that in coming weeks he expected his wife and family to join him here.

The important basis of the theory of suicide in the case was the fact that Mr. Lang was picked up at a point in Kiukiang Roadway well beyond the curb line. It was pointed out that had he fallen from the window his body would have struck a projecting roof of a one story structure housing the Kalee hotel kitchen on Kiukiang Road.

The police have been able to prove from at least one eye witness of the tragedy that Mr. Lang's body in fact did strike this kitchen roof in its plunge downward, ricocheting from it into the roadway where it was found when help arrived. Another element in the case proving Mr. Lang's death was accidental was the fact that a four-foot section of drain pipe near the window of the room he occupied had been torn away, obviously in the man's clutch as he fell and this was found entangled in the telephone light wires over the street. Examination of the roof of the Kalee kitchen also brought to light the place where Mr. Lang's body struck where the iron work is heavily indented.

It is now fairly established that after returning from his search for living quarters Mr. Lang went to his room by the hotel lift before midnight and after removing his hat and shoes spent an hour or more reading a magazine that was left open on a table. It is thought that he seated himself on the sill of the window, as the night was hot, and while in this position lost his balance and fell, vainly seizing the drain pipe as he dropped.

The inquest in the case, postponed from last Saturday, will be concluded next Saturday morning before Mr. G. W. King, Coroner.

Consul Genl. Cunningham And Party of Officials With American Coy. Extend Greeting

MANY AFFAIRS ON

Dr. Schurman To Give General Outline Of His Views Friday

Wholly hopeful and optimistic for the future of the Chinese people is the viewpoint held by Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, noted American educator, who comes to succeed Mr. Charles R. Crane as American Minister. Doctor Schurman and Mrs. Schurman with their daughters, the Misses Rose and Helen Schurman, arrived in Shanghai yesterday morning on the China Mail liner Nanking. They are the guests of Mr. Edwin S. Cunningham, American Consul-General and Mrs. Cunningham at the Consulate and will be here for several days before proceeding to Peking.

When the Nanking docked at the China Merchants' Lower wharf about 8 o'clock yesterday morning a party of American officials headed by Mr. Cunningham with a number of prominent American residents and a delegation of Chinese dignitaries boarded the vessel to extend welcome to Doctor Schurman. The party of American officials with Doctor Schurman and his family boarded a launch from the Nanking and were taken to the Customs Jetty where the American Company of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps were drawn up to act as a guard of honor. At the jetty automobiles were provided and headed by the Municipal band and the American Company the line of march proceeded to the American Consulate.

APPRECIATES WELCOME

Doctor Schurman expressed himself as highly appreciative of the welcome given to him and he referred particularly in this connection to the American Company of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps, now under command of Lieut. V. Olsen in the absence of Dr. S. A. Ransom, who is in the United States. Col. R. Marr Johnson, Commandant of the Volunteer Corps was present at the jetty with the American Company and went with the guard of honor to the Consulate.

Arrangements at the jetty were carried out without hitch under the direction of Mr. W. B. Wilson Jr. of the American Consulate staff.

Among those in the party that met Doctor Schurman besides Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham were Commander H. D. Ransdell of the American Navy Paymaster's office, Col. R. Marr-Johnson, Maj. C. P. Holcomb, United States District Attorney and Mrs. Holcomb, Mr. E. H. Everett, American Post Master, Messrs. Mahlon F. Perkins and R. P. Tenney, Lieutenant Olsen, Messrs. Lynn Meekins, V. G. Lyman, A. The Chinese Chamber of Commerce will entertain Doctor Schurman at tiffin tomorrow at the Chinese Chamber of Commerce and tomorrow evening the new Minister is to be the guest of the American Chamber of Commerce and the American Associa-

Chinese Ghosts Can't Take A Joke, So Shun Shanghai

By Elsie McCormick

If there is a Lucille in the Shadow World who writes fashion notes for spirits, she probably remarks something like this:

"The favorite haunting costume is the conventional white, draped in classic lines to follow the figure and yet conceal it. These long summer evenings make ideal weather for haunting, and many of the nebulous smart set are taking advantage of it. I have designed a wrap called "Moonbeam Illusion" to wear with the regular gown when the first nip of autumn tends to make the graveyards a bit chilly.

"A Chinese note will probably make its appearance in the fall fashions in the shape of the darker gowns such as are worn by the Oriental spirits. A few of our social leaders have adopted the Chinese mode, and it is freely rumored among the crematories that the hoi polloi will follow it before the season is over. I have originated a little gown called the 'Banshee's Delight' which combines the solemnity of the Chinese style with the sauciness of a deceased colleen."

May be the Lucille of the Spirit World writes that way and maybe she doesn't but at any rate the whole Psychic Research Society knows that Chinese ghosts do not wear white. They are always dark, somber ghosts, with a penchant for moving in the shadows and vibrating like the image of a tree on a courtyard wall. The fact that they sometimes glide back and forth in a different tempo from their surroundings is all that first attracts the attention of the luckless bystander. There is only one phantom—the White Extraordinary Ghost—that breaks the color scheme but his position as constable of the underworld gives him a right to his distinctive costume.

Pleasant little pixies with a fondness for dancing on the edge of buttercups have no place in the Chinese lore of the supernatural. Their ghosts are spirits that wander unhappily through the world, knowing that their release from uncomfortable ghostdom lies only in the possibility of securing a substitute from the realm of the living. Therefore the Chinese who feels a bit downhearted may have his temporary cheerlessness aggravated by a ghost with reverse Pollyanna until it reaches the dimensions of a desire for suicide. The man who falls overboard may be pulled to the bottom by a muscular phantom in need of a substitute, and he who partakes of the water melon that cheers may also consume a cholera poison poured into its depths by a restive spirit.

AUTO IMMOBILITY

The Oriental's habit of calmly examining the hood of an approaching automobile until a sudden step backward is all that saves him from being converted into hamburg steak is due to his belief that his haunting ghost will be two seconds slower than he is and therefore will be properly annihilated. Unfortunately the Chinese is often a poor judge of speed and goes into the phantom business himself at comparatively short notice.

From the first to the fifteenth of the seventh moon, gifts of spirit money, clothing, furniture, and food are presented to the drifting mass of homeless souls in the hope of buying their good will and causing them to seek their substitutes among the ungenerous.

Buddhist and Taoist priests conduct special services, the Taoists being more popular because of a flexible ritual and lack of restrictions in regard to the musical program. Buddhist services demand special chants, but the Taoist priests beam as pleasantly on "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," rendered by a brass band as on the measured liturgy of ancient worship. The Number One priest adds a touch of vaudeville by a special dance representing the soul's entry into Heaven, with Isadora Duncan trimmings. He stages a bit of juggling with a device of curved ivory on which the court reporters formerly scribbled remarks made by the Emperor.

No Ghost Festival is complete without a parade headed by a twenty foot image of the Chief Ghost, with pop-eyes made of eggshells, and featured by images of beggars, opium-smokers, famine victims, suicides, and plague sufferers. Within recent years the figure of an automobile victim has taken its place among the homeless spirits.

He who fails to march in the parade or to contribute his share toward the phantom feast is likely to see men and women with distorted faces slinking among the shadows, to hear shrieking voices in empty rooms and to awake some night at a cold, clammy touch, to see a piece of the family cutlery reposing somewhere on his body. Chinese ghosts have no sense of humor. They take haunting as a serious occupation and those to whom they appear have good reason to burn silver paper and start a bank account for them in the fourth dimension.

Incidentally, local Chinese believe that the International Settlement is comparatively free from ghosts, as no spirit could find its way around the temperamentally numbered streets without considerable experience. It is also believed that the Settlement phantoms who have learned the city are extremely snobbish and admit no humbler brothers to membership. We don't know where a ghost could find living quarters in Shanghai anyway.

ARMISTICE ARRANGED IN WU PEI-FU'S HUPEH WAR

Hunan Troops Fiercely Resist In Sanguinary Tingshih Fight

WAIT FOR DR. SUN

Southern Army Expected To Reach Scene By September 1

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Hankow, August 24.—Fighting between government and insurgent troops has been temporarily suspended for two days. The truce is said to have been arranged by General Wu Pei-fu, who has telegraphed to Generals Chao Heng-ti, Chiang Tso-ping and Kung Keng to send representatives to Hankow to confer with him for peace.

Hunan troops, however, are offering fearless resistance at Tingshihchow, where the combat has resulted in heavy casualties for both sides.

It is stated that General Wu's proposal for peace was prompted by the fear that the present fighting may lessen the effectiveness of his forces, while the report that Chang Tso-lin, the Mukden warlord, may send troops down the Peking-Hankow Railway under the pretext to rescue Wu Pei-fu also may have contributed to force his hand.

The Naval authorities have joined General Wu in the latter's demand for funds from Peking.

The British gunboats have been authorised to return firing when steamers are fired upon by soldiers from ashore.

AWAIT DR. SUN'S ARMY

Hankow, August 23.—Hunan is maintaining a firm attitude towards Hupeh in the present fight. The troops of Dr. Sun Yat-sen are expected to arrive in this province by the end of the month.

This afternoon, General Wu Pei-fu launched a drastic attack on the Hunanese through water and overland routes.

Two gunboats are reported to have been sunk through a collision near Lienyutan.

ARMISTICE AT END
(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, August 23.—Reports received here state that the armistice has been broken off, owing to the refusal of the Hunanese to recognise General Wu Pei-fu as High Commissioner for Hunan. In consequence of this rupture, General Chao Heng-ti has gone to Changsha, and General Wu Pei-fu is ordering an immediate attack on Yochow.

The Chinese gunboats Kungseng and Kiangkun while steaming up river collided with each other this morning. It is stated that the former has sunk.

SIMPSON SAYS SETTLEMENT IS NEAR IN CHINA

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 23.—Mr. Lenox Simpson, who has been very active in writing and speaking since his arrival in England, yesterday delivered a lecture to the Chinese students' conference at Swanwick on the subject of the political and industrial outlook in China. He declared his belief that, despite the establishment of a separatist government at Canton, a settlement was nearer than even the Chinese suspected.

In his opinion the true solution of the problem of Chinese government was something on the lines of British Dominion rule, with a central capital as a national clearing house. Mr. Simpson said he was taking back with him to China important recommendations in this respect. China, he added, expected great things from the Washington Conference, where he was convinced that she would receive British support.

Vested Interests May Find Prosperity In Bridge

Greater Shanghai, strained to the bursting point on the left bank of the Whangpoo, has but to build a bridge to have a potential Jersey City on the Pootung side, according to Mr. Hans Berents, the well known Shanghai engineer who has interested himself in civic expansion.

Considerable interest has been given the proposal which Mr. Berents outlined at a recent meeting of the Rotary Club. He suggests a five span bridge, 1,200 feet long including the approaches, to be built between Nantao and a point just above the Tunkadou dock. The bridge should be able to accommodate a railway, tramway, pedestrian and motor traffic.

In the harbor improvement investigation to be conducted by the Whangpoo Conservancy Board this autumn one of the possibilities discussed should be such a bridge, declares Mr. Berents. The shippers of the five nations clearing the largest tonnage in the port, Britain, Japan, America, France and Holland, have invited engineers from their respective countries to be on the committee. Major-General Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, has accepted the invitation to represent the American interests.

A valuable advisor on bridging the Whangpoo, says Mr. Berents, would be Dr. J. A. L. Waddell, now on the Board of Advisory Engineers to decide on the award of contract for the Yellow River bridge. Dr. Waddell has been asked by the Chinese government to make an economic study of the crossings of the Yangtsze at Nanking and Hankow, and recommend the best kind of crossing, whether tunnel, ferry, or bridge at those places.

NEED FACTORY SITES

The greatest need which a Whangpoo bridge would supply, declares Mr. Berents, is a manufacturing area close to the waterway. Factory sites have become so scarce that many plants are being built in the western residential section. There is plenty of waste land on the Pootung side, within a half mile from the Bund.

Another pressing need which could be supplied only by a bridge is a rail service to the mile of docks on the Pootung side. At present the wharves and godowns are served only by water. Coal bunking depots for ocean liners could be constructed on the Pootung side, if rail connection were made with the mines. It is pointed out that Woosung has the only rail connected wharf, so that goods arriving by rail for export often go to Woosung for transfer to lighters, and then come back to Shanghai harbor to be loaded on the ships.

The area beyond Pootung also offers possibilities for cheap lots, and residential expansion near the heart of the city. With an adequate bridge to serve railway and tramway, as well as pedestrian and motor traffic, Shanghai would have a new section in which to relieve the pressure of over-crowding, and the resulting high rents.

VESTED INTERESTS OPPOSE

Mr. Berents feels that the alleged opposition to the bridge scheme by the vested interests becomes good reason for its support. The public remembers the fight put up by vested interests over the culverting of the Yangkingpang, and the transformation of a smelly creek into a broad and clean avenue. But the creation of Avenue Edouard VII has in no way reduced the value of properties on Nanking Road, nor in any other part of the settlement. But such opposition postponed the necessary improvement for twenty years. Likewise, for similar reasons the construction of the Shanghai tramways was delayed for an equal number for years.

Upon the mention of a bridge the vested interests raise the cry that it would reduce the land values on the Shanghai side of the Whangpoo. Such spirit, declares Mr. Berents, if allowed to continue will choke Shanghai's development. It is time to get rid of "old custom," and coordinate all interests with the view of making Shanghai's future as promising as possible.

New American Minister Is Welcomed To China

OF DUTCH DESCENT

Doctor Schurman has long held a high place in American public life by reason of his scholarship, administrative ability and force of character. He is of Dutch descent and was born at Freetown, Prince Edward Island in 1854. He studied in the Universities of London, Paris, Edinburgh, Heidelberg, Berlin Goettingen and in Italy and he holds the degree of L.L.D. from no less than eight American Universities.

After holding the post of professor of philosophy at Acadia and Dalhousie Colleges and Cornel University, he became president of Cornell in 1892, serving until last year. In the meantime he was president of the first United States Philippine Commission and in 1912-13 was United States Minister to Greece and Montenegro. He was also first Vice-President of the New York State Constitutional convention.

TO TELL PLANS

Doctor Schurman intimated yesterday that on the occasion of the dinner to be given for him by American commercial bodies Friday he will present some general outline of views he holds regarding China and will tell something of the policy he intends to adopt in his new post. He made it plain that what he will have to say will be of a general nature, holding that it is too early for him to voice any definite purposes.

Doctor Schurman confirmed views ascribed to him in reports published in America before he came to China on the Shantung question. He said he had entirely approved of the Senate action in withholding approval of the Shantung clauses of the Versailles treaty. Continuing, he said that two outstanding views on the question of the treaty developed in the United States when it was being discussed. It was at first held by many, he explained, that the treaty should be accepted as it stood with the understanding that the United States then should ask Japan to surrender to China the interests the Nipponese had acquired in Shantung.

As the discussions were prolonged, he added, the view that the treaty could be accepted only with reservations regarding Shantung and regarding other points, gathered strength and the outcome was that in the end it was decided to reject the treaty. Doctor Schurman said that the Shantung clauses undoubtedly formed an important factor in bringing American opinion to the point it reached and he agreed that it was largely due to the Shantung question that American interest in China and the Chinese had been stimulated as it has been in the past year.

EXPECTS REUNION

Concerning the future of China and the question of a reunion of the North and South, Doctor Schurman said he believed that in time China's internal differences would be adjusted and the country reunited under a central government organized to give the broadest rights to the various provinces and following or going beyond the American principles of states' rights as enunciated by Jefferson. He added that it would be inexcusable for Americans to criticise the Chinese harshly for being slow to adjust themselves to the changes that have been going forward in recent years, for the changes wrought in America when the Union was forming was of slow growth that continued over years.

Doctor Schurman told something of the underlying reasons for the traditional friendship between China and the United States—the natural desire of Americans to see the Republic that the Chinese have launched develop successfully, and the interest that has grown and developed with the growth of American trade in China—and he spoke in terms of the highest praise of the Chinese themselves.

Doctor Schurman said that shortly before he left the United States he had been informed by commercial leaders that month-to-month records of important business enterprises carry the indication that the worst period of the post-war depression had been passed.

WOMEN SHOW BIG INCREASE IN THE BRITISH CENSUS

Total Gain Is Two Million And Feminine Sex Accounts For 1,260,000

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 23.—The preliminary returns of the last census are now published, and give the total population of Great Britain as 42,767,530, representing an increase since the previous census, in 1911, of 1,936,134. The male population totalled 20,430,623 (an increase of 676,176), and the females 22,336,907 (an increase of 1,259,958).

All the principal cities, except London and Bradford show increases, ranging from 1.2 percent in the case of Leeds, to 9.4 in Birmingham. The population of the County of London area is now 4,483,249 (a decrease of 38,436), and that of Bradford 285,979 (a decrease of 2,479). On the other hand, the population of "Greater London" is now 7,476,168, as compared with 7,251,358 in 1911, or an increase of 3.1 percent. Birmingham, with a population of 919,438 (as compared with 840,202) is now the second city in England.

The increase in the population of England and Wales is 1,814,750, which is only about half the increase in the preceding inter-censal period (viz., from 1901 to 1911), and less than any corresponding figure since 1811.

The fall in the birth-rate in the years 1915-1918 was the heaviest ever recorded, being 25 percent below the normal. This movement, however, changed on the cessation of hostilities, and large increases are recorded since 1918. Nevertheless, these have not compensated for the deficiencies in the preceding four years.

The deaths, on the other hand, showed no such decline down to 1918, while the notable reduction in deaths since 1918, together with the increase in births, combined to produce in 1920 a natural increase in population greater than in any other previous year.

The returns show a steadily increasing predominance of the urban as compared with the rural element, the increase in the urban population being 6.6 percent as compared with 1911.

GERMANY FREED FROM ECONOMIC COMMERCE BAR

Loucheur And Rathenau Will Discuss Lowering Of Tariff Fence

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 23.—The French press points out that the forthcoming meeting between M. Loucheur, French Minister of Reconstruction, and Dr. Walther Rathenau, German Minister of Reconstruction, is the logical outcome of the meeting between these two gentlemen at Wiesbaden in June. The two Ministers had agreed at that time to suspend negotiations until after the meeting of the Supreme Council.

The Ere Nouvelle understands that the next conference may be of a wider scope than the previous ones. It is pointed out that the decision taken by the Supreme Council on the termination of its sitting, in regard to the withdrawal of the economic sanctions in the Rhine provinces, alters the commercial situation of both France and Germany.

"The importation of German goods can again be resumed freely in the occupied districts, the withdrawal of the economic sanctions being an undeniable advantage to German commerce. France is therefore entitled to hope that, on its side, the Berlin Government will consider it advisable to withdraw the customs rates which have hitherto been prohibitive."

The Berliner Tageblatt states that the negotiations between M. Loucheur and Dr. Rathenau will last two or three days, and that they will be devoted chiefly to the question of German deliveries.

The Frankfurter Zeitung understands that the interview between the two Ministers will last several days and will deal with the question of German deliveries. The paper is of the opinion, however, that an agreement will not be reached before October.

Billion To Boost Beets And Wheat And Farm Fodder

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, August 23.—The House of Representatives has passed the Senate Bill making available $1,000,000,000 for the stimulation of agricultural exports, after eliminating a provision authorising the War Finance Corporation to purchase $200,000,000 of farm loans. Thus the measure requires further action before its submission to the President.

SUPERANNUATION RULES

The Council has given careful consideration to the recommendations of the Municipal Salaries Commission on the subject of suggested alterations in the Superannuation Rules, but in the view that such alterations would not be of permanent advantage, either to the employe, or to the Council, it has been decided to leave unchanged the present rules.

Municipal Staff Changes

Changes in the Municipal Staff given in extracts from the order books for the week ending Saturday, August 20 are as follows:

Police Force.—The Council has learnt with deep regret of the death, on August 20, of Sergeant D. McInnes.

Public Works Department.—Inspector G. S. Brian is invalided from September 12.

Mr. W. Hunter is appointed Clerk of Works temporarily from September 1.

Electricity Department.—The service of Mr. C. A. King, Charge Engineer, will terminate on Aug. 31.

Mr. W. Whitelock is appointed Charge Engineer on probation from August 12.

Mr. A. R. Bell is appointed Electrical Assistant on probation from August 8.

Educational Department.—Long leave is granted to Mrs. R. L. Peach, Assistant Mistress in the Thomas Hanbury School for Boys, from September 15.

U.S. Tells Panama To Pipe Down In Border Dispute

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, August 23.—In a Note forwarded to Panama yesterday, the United States Government declared it would not permit hostilities arising from the occupation of the Coto region by Costa Rica. The Note was sent in response to a communication from Panama, indicating that if Costa Rica attempted to reoccupy the disputed territory, force would be used to resist the occupation unless the United States made it clear that the Government would prevent it.

How Travel In China Hits Our New Reporter

BY WES WILLIAMS
(Special Correspondence)

En Route, August 20.—I'll say this for the leading newspaper in Shanghai that a new reporter like myself just out from home can't complain about lack of action. Here I am on my way to my first assignment and things have begun to happen already, just as I am getting my land legs back again.

You told me to go to Peking by train but you failed to instruct me to take along my bathing suit. When I got to the station they would only sell me a ticket to a place called Pengpu which they told me is about 450 li north of Pukow. There we stop and chances are that I shall be stuck there long enough to find out what a li is and a lot of other things. The reason is the flood which has washed out bits of railroad track north of this Peng place.

So you see I'm in a fix. Instead of getting to Peking early to give the new plant of the China Medical Board, school, hospital, residences and what not the once over, before the grand and formal opening at which John D. Jr. himself is to preside, I'm due to land in a stretch of soft mud and watch China go by in a very liquid state.

But even if I am a cub reporter from a dry place in the States where they don't know any more about floods than the Arabs in the Sahara, I'll bring in a scoop yet. You told me that the Peking Union Medical College main plant and accessories cost about seven million gold. I'm betting that if this is any sort of respectable flood it's going to cost a heap sight more than that.

GET PICTURES! !

A pal of mine back home was sent to cover a mine disaster and finding it a bad one where many lives were lost he took a running jump in his wire story to the night editor; God sits tonight on the hills around Cokesville. But he got no farther. "Stop him," said the night editor, hanging over the story, and send him this message, never mind mine disaster. Interview God. Get pictures. I'll try to cover the flood and send you some pictures.

At the station I ran into a party going my way so with their permission I tacked myself on, incidentally saving The China Press the difference between a first class and a second class ticket. Two of them are missionaries and for some reason which I may find out they propose to sit up on this eleven o'clock train until it reaches Nanking in the morning. One is Dr. W. W. Peter, Secretary of the Council on Health Education and the other Rev. T. W. Mitchell, a Presbyterian working in Hunan. These two after failing to get a boat to Chingwangtao are going to try to break their way through to Tientsin. The other foreigner is a French gentleman who was completely surrounded and partly submerged by moving picture gear when I first saw him at the railway station. He looked as if he had been thrown off a boat just in from Hollywood and Los Angeles and hustled across Shanghai to catch a waiting train. The figure suggests itself as I try to recall his name which borders on Seaman. If I give myself another day or so I shall approximate both the proper spelling and pronunciation, a la francaise.

MUD NO BAR TO HIM

This Mr. S. is the head of the Cinema Department of Pathe Orient and says he is going as far as the train will take him, walk as far out into the mud as he can, set up his tripod and grind in a few thousand feet of film for the benefit of theatergoers who prefer to take their floods dry.

Did you get my speed at picking up my barings in China? I've already switched over and called these men foreigners. Also, that instead of calling the fourth member of our party a native or a Chinaman, I'm on to the latest style and shall designate him as a Chinese.

Privately speaking, however, he sure is a foreigner and all his ways are foreign to me. I wouldn't call our introduction at the station much of a success from our standpoint. Like most Chinese who attach themselves to foreigners for any length of time, he has grabbed off a few words of English. I didn't get his name clear because it got stuck en route and came out sideways, so I asked him in English. "Woo" he replied as if the place were dark and he were trying to scare somebody.

At the same time he started to write something in the palm of his left hand for me to see. But his hand wasn't quite dirty enough for the thing to stand out distinctly, in spite of the fine quill he was wearing for a finger nail. The Doc put me next and told me that was merely a Chinese custom to write certain characters in the palm of one hand with the forefinger of the other. They sure are a saving people.

SOME SLEEPER THIS

I don't have Woo's place in the party but I guess he must be a sort of handy man for he helped uncover Seaman and carried all the heavy pieces the station coolies left for him. He is down one notch more and is traveling somewhere else on this train, third class. Last I saw of him he was curled up in a conglomeration of people and baggage already sound asleep and completely disregarding later passengers who were climbing over him. Mitchell says, "That's the way they do in this country. So long as the rest of the crowd keep off his breather, he'll sleep like a log till morning."

The first thing after getting settled on the train was to lay out a fistful of tickets. Then Doc began to figure up how much they soaked him for excess baggage. "They must have done me out of fifty catties," he complained, "for I weighed the stuff myself this afternoon." But after a bit of juggling of figures between kilograms, catties and pounds, he decided that the difference was so small that it could all be accounted for by a difference of scales. Dempsey should have weighed in on the Doc's official scales and Carpentier on the railroad company's official scales to have made the fight more even.

Seaman says differences in weight are as nothing when compared to differences in money. "Did you change your Shanghai banknotes for dollars?" they asked me. When I wanted to know what for, they told me to wait and see why. I suppose that is why you gave me rather a small traveling allowance and I am glad to accept the matter in that light. I nearly broke my arm trying to hoist a rather small suitcase up to the baggage Pullman under the ceiling, only to be cautioned, "You want to be careful, man, the way you sling that suitcase around. I've got my dollars in there." They say China is hard up for money but my guess is that she would be just as bad off if she had all she wanted and had to carry it around.

NEED LYSOL DIP

I wish I had been brought up to sleep with a brick under my ear for a pillow. Every one of the passengers so fortunate as to possess a two-seater for himself is lying against the sharp edge of the wooden partition to keep folks from sliding off into the aisle, and looking mighty comfortable. At any rate most of them are asleep. The only other noisy occupations going on are conversation, tea drinking and a pair of pedal extremeties opposite which I would like to dip into the lysol contained in a metal dish on the floor designated for other purposes. Before I came to China, I thought the Japanese were the people given to partial disrobing on trains.

The Doc is still fussing about his baggage. Now he is wondering how in time he is going to get his heavy cases across the flooded Wei river. But for that and what else is due to happen, we shall have to wait and see.

I send this from Nanking after a hectic night without liquid refreshments other than Chinese tea which Mitchell and the Doc consumed in large quantities before they pillowed themselves on their raincoats and went to sleep. Seaman was in the army and I believe he could sleep on the sharp end of one of his tripod legs. What a fine bunk I had on the ship across! Anyway, I'm willing to pay one night's sleep for the chance to be with men who speak this language. I have no craving to cast off and depend on somebody trying to write it out for me on his hand, not even with a flood handy to make the streaks legible.

JAPAN'S CAUTION PUZZLES BRITISH

Regret That She Did Not Accept The Invitation Unconditionally

WANT PACIFIC SOLUTION

Press Contends Problem Must Be Settled Before Disarmament

London, July 16.—Japan's caution in approaching the question of the Pacific conference is neither blamed nor sympathised with her. Officially of course the British Government could not suggest a criticism of her ally and the propriety of her request to the American Government for further information is not disputed. In the unofficial world, however, it is regretted that Japan did not accept the invitation in general terms, such as those in which it was couched, and wait for developments of details which must necessarily ensue when the agenda of the conference comes to be framed.

The British press, which usually displays restraint when dealing with foreign questions, has shown no tendency to rub Japan the wrong way by finding fault with her action in a matter in which, after all, she is independent. She is entitled to take the line which she considers dictated by her interests, it is felt, but here and there are to be found mild expressions of regret that any nation should show hesitation in regard to the invitation to the conference which has been hailed here as "the initial chapter in a new charter of liberty."

WANTS NO RESERVATIONS

"We hope Japan and all other nations coming to the conference will come without expressed reservations," says one newspaper. "After all, it will be a conference, not arbitration, and no participant will be bound except by his duty to his country and his country's duty to civilisation. To question beforehand even in the best of faith must to some extent prejudice the issue.

The Pacific conference shares with the Irish the chief place in the weekly papers. It is held that the Pacific question is the first question that must be tackled.

The Observer says:

"The peaceful development of Japan is the first issue before the conference. On this hinges the maintenance of free and equal opportunities for foreign commerce in China, the recovery of China from internal weaknesses and, finally, the disarmament as a sequel of an agreement on the main problems.

"Japan needs outlets for her growing trade and population. The area open to her is restricted by the fact that the white populations of the Pacific territories claim the right to select their immigrants and to preserve their future for the descendants of their own race. To veto for Japan what they insist upon for themselves would convert the rights of white races into privileges valid only for so long as they could enforce them, and certain in time to be tested by force.

"On those lines embitterment in the Pacific would proceed apace, aligning first Japan only, but later the whole East, against the arrogant pretensions of the West. In such a contest it would be mockery to talk disarmament."

How the problem is to be solved The Observer does not say.

NEW MONROE DOCTRINE

The Sunday Times, which has a special article on the conference, also argues that an agreement on Pacific policy must precede the discussion of disarmament or the limitation of armament. It states the problem of Japanese expansion and adds:

"China is the greatest of the world's neutral markets and there is no putting bounds to the magnitude of its future expansion, with its teeming, industrious population. With its vast stores of mineral wealth China is capable, if statesmanship does not prevent it, of providing as many subjects for war as Turkey and the Near East have done.

"One would like to see the conference lay down a new Monroe Doctrine in regard to her. By this doctrine interested powers would bind themselves to seek no territorial acquisitions at her expense, and further would lay down the principle that whatever territorial or political changes do take place, they are not to interfere with the principle of equal commercial opportunity for all powers in her markets.

"It is to be hoped that the conference will set its face sternly against any division of China into spheres of influence, political or commercial. From Peking to Canton there must be one industrial rule for all powers, equality of opportunity for all the nations, with no closed markets, no preferential rights of any kind.

"Great Britain and the United States have steadily pursued this policy, and though the record of Japan is not so good, she is committed to the principle, and the conference should have no difficulty in tightening up the loose screws in the Anglo-Japanese agreement."

The views which find expression in the foregoing excerpts reflect fairly accurately the general trend of discussions that have gone on this last week in official and other quarters where it is fully recognised that the squaring of the circle will be scarcely a more difficult problem than coming to an agreement which will satisfy Japan's views of her present claims and the future necessities of expansion.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Save the Babies.
INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!
We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

STUDENTS SCORE CHU'S ALLEGED SECRET PACTS

Protest Of Union Is Sent To Peking Diplomatic Corps Seeking Relief

Alleging that Chu Chi-chien, personal representative of the President who has recently made a tour in France and other countries, has concluded another loan of 500,000,000 francs with the French Government, and a seecret pact with Japan on the Shantung and other questions, the National Federation of Students' yesterday communicated a letter to the Diplomatic Corps in Peking, protesting against the loan.

The text of the message is as follow:

"It is reported that Chu Chi-chien has negotiated a loan of 500,000,000 francs from France, a preliminary agreement of which has duly been signed at Paris on July 15 by Chen Loh and Wu Ting-chang on behalf of the Chinese government and that in it are named as securities the exclusive right to supply all materials for railway and industrial construction in China; the right to build railways in Kwangtung, Kwangsi, Yunnan, and Kweichow; and the reservation of the proceeds of the Stamp and the Deed examination Taxes, which are to be levied under strict French supervision for the next fifty years.

"It is also reported that he has secretly entered into another agreement with the Japanese government wherein the following eight items are stipulated, viz:

(1) The unconditional return of Kiachow Bay.

(2) Tsingtao to remain under Japanese rule for the time being and the Shantung Railway to be jointly managed by China and Japan.

(3) Japan not to give any objection if the other Powers agree to return to China their respective concessions and extraterritorial privileges.

(4) Japan to return to China her share of the Boxer Indemnity.

(5) Japan to supply the running cost of the Chinese government at the rate of Yen 60,000,000 annually.

(6) Japan to advance to the Chinese Eastern Railway at once the sum of Yen 15,000,000.

(7) Japan to have the right of developing waste lands in China, and

(8) China to give Japan first chance in purchasing her natural products.

"Inasmuch as it is explicitly provided in our provisional constitution that every treaty or loan made by the government must be ratified by Parliament or else it will be null and void, and inasmuch as the Peking government has repeatedly declared that Chu Chi-chien was sent only on a mission to visit the rulers and leaders of some of our friendly nations with no political objectives whatsoever, we therefore beg to declare to all foreign countries that the loan negotiated with France and the secret pact entered into with Japan will not be considered as valid by the people.

"In case the above statement is substantiated by facts, we earnestly request the French Minister at Peking to urge his government to cancel the loan and we likewise request the Japanese Minister at Peking to communicate to his government requesting it to cancel such agreement made with Chu Chi-chien. We beg most heartily that all the foreign ministers at Peking will support us upholding righteousness."

SAGHALIEN HAS HUGE RESOURCES OF COAL AND FISH

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita (by mail), August 4.—Discussing the question of the Japanese occupation of Saghalien, the Far Eastern Republic writes:

"The Russian part of the island of Saghalien can yield annually 300,000 tons of coal of high quality, worth 6,000,000 gold roubles.

The annual catch in the Nikolaevsk fisheries is equal to 9,000,000 poods of salmon, 85,000 poods of caviar, 9,000 poods of sturgeon.

The Saghalien district is also rich in gold. The Japanese have now occupied those rich Russian regions, have established their laws there and govern the Russian inhabitants as their own subjects. The Japanese Government is inducing the Japanese to emigrate to those Russian districts by affording them various privileges. During the first half of this year the Japanese Government has sent over 900 Japanese citizens from Japan proper to the Russian Saghalien.

Over 300 Japanese residents of the southern part of Saghalien have moved to the North into Russian territory. Considering the emigration not sufficient for the establishment of the Japanese rule in the Russian Saghalien, the Japanese diet passed a law providing for the establishment of the so-called Saghalien Development Company with a capital of 10,000,000 Yen, in order to lessen the influence of foreign capital, especially that of America. The five largest commercial houses of Japan, Mitsui, Okura, Mitzubishi, Kuhara and Takara have organised an industrial syndicate to control the industry of this Russian province."

Memorial To Aviator On Paris Store's Roof

Paris, July 9.—Paris has long been criticised as the only city in the world with too many monuments. Every public square and thousands of street corners are marked with specimens of art of the last four centuries, but it remained for the war to give the inspiration for erecting memorial statues on top of department stores. How this will strike the artistic purists is not yet certain, but the public is taking unusual interests in a monument to Jules Vedrines, the aviator, which is gracing the roof of the Galeries La Fayette.

It is a huge six faced pyramid of the purest white marble bearing a likeness of the daring aviator who landed on that roof in January, 1919, during a flight. It wasn't the strange selection of a landing place that is being commemorated, but the fact that Vedrines met death while trying to gain new laurels for French aviation during a Paris-Rome flight a few months afterward.

The dedication of the statue had the approval of the Government, and Laurent Eynac, Minister of Aviation, was the principal speaker. The music was by the Fifth Infantry Band, in which regiment Vedrines served before taking up his career as an aviator.

Pacifist Champion Plans Lectures

London, July 9.—Francis W. Hirst is sailing today in response to an invitation from Herbert Hoover to deliver lectures at Leland Stanford University and California University. Although Mr. Hirst was a frank pacifist throughout the war, men and women of all shades of political belief gathered at a luncheon at the Hotel Savoy this week to wish him godspeed. Sir Donald McLean presided and Sir John Simon and Lord Birkenhead spoke. The speakers were undergraduates together with Mr. Hirst at Oxford, and, although both insisted that Mr. Hirst had been on the wrong side all his life, both paid warm tributes to his honesty, courage, sincerity and solid ability.

"I never agreed with him in all these thirty years," Lord Birkenhead declared, "but only show Hirst suffering oppression and wrong and you have a champion worthy of the finest cause."

Mr. Hirst, whose weekly publication, Common Sense, recently suspended, pleaded with his successful and wealthy friends to found and endow a newspaper and let him run it. Others at the luncheon were Lord Parmoor, Lord Mersey, Lord Beauchamp, Lord Emmot, Lord Ashton of Hyde, Lord Farrer, Lady Courtney, Sir Walter Runciman, Gen. Gough, Mrs. Ronald Greville and a hundred others.

FORESIGHT

In 1918 a group of American banking institutions headed by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York conceived the idea of establishing an American bank for furthering the interests of American firms in their commercial relations with the Far East.

Headed by Mr. Charles H. Sabin, President of the Guaranty Trust Company, the Asia Banking Corporation was accordingly organized and established at 35 Broadway. The authorized capital of G.$4,000,000 was practically all subscribed by seven well-known American banks and the directorate for the most part was formed of officers of these institutions.

The Shanghai branch as head office for the Far East was opened February 7, 1919, and its other nine branches established in rapid succession.

The large possibilities of trade between China and the United States was foreseen, and the vision of these men has proven a reality.

Since 1918 China's direct trade with the United States has increased Hk. Tls. 74,490,184, representing an increase of 54%.

Even more encouraging are the prospects of future trade development to follow upon the commercial readjustments of the past year. Adequate credit and commercial machinery are the only restrictions on the size of this trade.

TSINGTAU BASEBALL SERIES OPENS TODAY; PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT FOR LOCAL'S VICTORY

Today's Game Start At 5 p.m.; Saturday And Sunday To Have Double Bill

The Shanghai Baseball club opens a new series of games at 5 o'clock this evening, when it meets the Tsingtao Japanese team in the first of a schedule of four games. There will be no game tomorrow, the second and third games being set for Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 o'clock and the final match for Monday at 5.

Saturday's and Sunday's program according to announcement made yesterday will provide double-headers. The second game for either day will have hong teams competing—an American hong opposing a Japanese hong.

The bill for Saturday, after the Shanghai-Tsingtao game calls for a contest between the Socony Baseball team, representing the Standard Oil Company and the nine of the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha. On Sunday the Anderson, Meyer nine will meet the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, in the last half of the double bill. It is expected to start these second games before 5:30 each day.

The Tsingtao team had its first practice in Shanghai at the race course yesterday afternoon, when they went through a limbering up workout in the early afternoon. They showed a fast and clever example of baseball, and gave a favorable impression to fans who were watching. Their reputation as one of the strongest Japanese nines in China appeared to have been honestly earned.

The prospects for the coming series are good for Shanghai. The list of cripples has been diminished almost to nil. Dennison is in good shape again and will probably work in the box today. Maloney will start at third for his first appearance in the game since he sprained his ankle a month ago in a game with the Wilmington nine. Hopkins might get in the game. Roeser has recovered from his "Hongkong" foot, and is ready for his usual good job behind the bat.

Admission to the Tsingtao-Shanghai games will be by membership card to members of the Shanghai Baseball Club, and at $1.00 per game for non members

Ruth Gets Two More Homers In One Game

Babe Ruth, the Yank's mighty slugger knocked out two home runs in the game at Cleveland on Tuesday, bringing his total for the season to that date up to 48, only 6 behind his total for the whole season of 1920.

Last year, Ruth had scored but 43 homers up until August 23. He registered his 48th on September 10. He now is 5 homers or 17 days ahead of his last year's pace.

MOTORCYCLES TO RACE SATURDAY AT KIANGWAN

Small Machine Event Added To 10-Mile Motor Car Event

The motor racing section of Barr's Flying Circus program at Kiangwan on Saturday and Sunday promises to develop into a something bigger and better than was at first anticipated.

The announcement of the ten-mile motor race, with several entrants, including one or two former racing men of American auto factories, has stirred up a demand for a motor cycle event.

The management last night announced a motor-cycle race of 7 laps, or approximately 10 miles, for the two wheeled vehicles, and has prepared a number of entry forms for prospective cycle racers.

Several motor-cyclists already have indicated their wish to compete. It is expected that 10 machines will face the starters line when the shot is fired on Saturday and Sunday.

The motor cycle event is open to all riders, all makes of machines of any horsepower. It is the intention of Shanghai riders, many of whom have ridden in amateur events in America and England, to hang up a record for China.

Entry forms may be had and filed at Rudford's garage.

War On Boxing Is Launched In Jersey

Camden, N. J., July 16.—An organisation of churchmen pledged to wage an intensive campaign for repeal of the State boxing law opened headquarters here today.

The Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts, who as superintendent of the International Reform Bureau attempted to have the Dempsey-Carpentier bout stopped by injunction, is leader of the movement. The campaigners plan to follow the same tactics that resulted in betting at race tracks in New Jersey being prohibited some years ago. They announced that legislative candidates would be asked to pledge themselves to vote for repeal of the boxing law.

All public boxing matches would be prohibited in New Jersey under Mr. Crafts's program.

College Athlete Joins The Giants

Howard Berry of Pennsylvania, the greatest all around athlete yet developed in the colleges, yesterday reported to John McGraw and donned the uniform of the Giants. Berry is an outfielder and will get an early chance to show what he can do. The young Pennsylvanian showed up well in practice. Berry's arrival brings the number of New York outfielders up to seven, the others being Burns, Young, Walker, Brown, Cunningham and Stengel. And the competition for the center field berth is hotter than it ever was.

Berry will be remembered as the national all around champion and compiler of records in versatility, second only to those of Jim Thorpe, who was a Giant outfielder, too. Berry also was one of the leading football stars. With Berry, Frisch, Young and Ryan, the Giants have an all collegiate football backfield of considerable ability. Frisch hails from Fordham. Young from Texas and Ryan from Holy Cross.

TENNIS LEAGUE'S FIFTH ROUND SET FOR TOMORROW

Recs And Cercle Sportif Will Fight For Second Place; C.C.C. Not Playing

Tomorrow's play in the City Tennis League tournament of the Shanghai Lawn Tennis Association will more than likely see all clubs but one holding their positions as assumed after last Friday's matches.

The schedule for tomorrow follows:

Cercle Sportif vs. Recs.

Cricket Club vs. Country Club.

Portuguese vs. Japanese.

The Columbia Country Club lays over on a bye.

Matches will be played on the courts of the first named club.

The standings of the clubs to date follow:

Club	W.	L.	Pts.
Portuguese	13	2	13
Recs	11	4	11
Cercle Sportif	9	6	9
C. C. C.	8	12	8
Cricket Club	7	13	7
Country Club	6	14	6
Japanese	6	9	6

The Portuguese Club, which is leading the league certainly will not be blanked by the Japanese so must increase their total of points tomorrow sufficiently to retain their lead. The Recs and the French Club, according to past performances will split about even, perhaps at 3 matches to two. The only change probable is in the fourth position. The Cricket Club or the Country Club, whichever wins must displace the C.C.C., which holds its fourth place by a very bare margin.

Han Yeh Ping Tenns Finals On Saturday

The final tennis tournament to be held under the auspices of the Han Yeh Ping Coal and Iron Co., Ltd., will be held at the Han Yeh Ping Club, 11 Jessfield Road on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Prominent tennis experts and ladies have been invited to attend the contest.

The tournament was originally scheduled to take place last Saturday, but was postponed on account of the bad weather.

Dempsey Has The Boxer's Best Gift—Good Hands

New York, July 20.—"Good hands," priceless treasures the champion fighter longs for. Jack Dempsey, hardest hitter that ever lived, has been endowed by the gods of ring warfare. His hands are priceless because they are absolutely perfect and sound from a fighting standpoint. They are worth a million.

Georges Carpentier injured his best hand in the great fight with Dempsey. They say now that he injured that hand eight days before the bout and the secret was guarded jealously by Descamps and Gus Wilson, his trainer, first, because such knowledge would have been an advantage to the champion had he got wind of it, and then because it would have ruined the last hour rush for seats.

There was little evidence of injury when Georges started to use that right. No man ever hit harder with it unless it was Dempsey, Fitzsimmons or Joe Choynski. The way the hand was used in the early part of that great struggle for Old and New World supremacy makes the training camp injury sound foolish.

Carpentier did hurt his hand in the second round. It was swollen after the bout. The big thumb joint was puffed and discolored. That bad thumb may have stood between Georges Carpentier and a world's title. He will not say so himself. He is not trying to take any credit away from the champion with a cry of "bad hands." But bad hands have lost more than one title, driven more than one great fighter into retirement.

FITZ'S HANDS GAVE OUT

We saw Bob Fitzsimmons batter Jim Jeffries blind and to the point of a knockout in Frisco, when he tried to regain his title from the former boiler maker. Fitz hit Jeff so hard and so often that his brittle hands finally "cracked up," as he put it himself, and he was left helpless in the eighth and knocked out. Good hands right then would have downed Jeffries, and the immortal Cornishman could have gone down in history as the one heavyweight of our time who regained his title.

Who had the best fighting hands? Jeffries had splendid maulies. Dempsey's are nearly perfect as nature can make them. The best pair of fighting hands ever seen in the ring were possessed by Stanley Ketchel, marvellous hitter of his day. Ketchel's hands were unusually large and he took the greatest care of them.

Ketchel seemed always to be hitting carelessly in the ring, but Ketchel's style was the devil-may-care kind. He was a free hitter, but he knew how to hit. He mothered his hands as no man of ring history ever did. He was careful even to his wrists and forearms. In training he wore great gloves of his own design but made by Sol Levison, the man who has fitted all the heavyweight champions since Corbett's day.

DREADED SORE FOREARMS

These gloves, shown in the sketch of Ketchel sparring during training, were upholstered almost to his elbows. Ketchel dreaded one thing going into an important fight—sore forearms. He would have taken his chances with a sore knuckle rather than go into a fight with tender forearms. He saw to it that his hard hitting gym opponents did not jar and bruise the long bones of his forearms by smashing into his defense. He sat down and designed these buffer gloves. They lie today in the bottom of an old trunk of Ketchel relics at his Michigan home.

Ketchel would never let any man touch his hands before or after a fight. Pity take the camp handler, impatient to get away after a fight, who suggested cutting the tape from Ketchel's hands. They had to be unwound as they had been wound. He always taped his own hands as he sat in his dressing room or corner.

Sores from Wrist to Elbow
"Completely Healed"

Our portrait is of Mr. John Kidd, of 17, Mill Lane, Kilmarnock, Scotland, who writes:—"My right arm became covered with sores from wrist to elbow and was useless for over two years. I tried different ointments and so-called cures, but they never did me any good. Then I tried your 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and the sores soon began to heal up and power began to come back to my arm, so I persevered with the Mixture, and after having four bottles am glad to say my arm is completely healed up and I have now the full use of it." In a further letter over a twelvemonth later Mr. Kidd writes: "I have had no return of my complaint; my arm is still as sound as a bell and never troubles me in the least."

Clerk Charged With Theft Of 50 Barrels Of Cement Acquitted

J. A. Gardner, charged in the British Police Court with the larceny of 50 barrels of cement belonging to Messrs. Butterfield and Swire, was acquitted yesterday after testifying in the witness box for his own defense.

Judge King, in rendering his decision, stated that sitting as a judge and a jury, it was necessary for him to look at the evidence, on which alone he would not hesitate in acquitting the accused. But the damning fact against the accused was the fact that he ran away. The Court has the explanation of the accused and it seemed rather extraordinary that an innocent man should not stay here and face the music.

The excuse which accused gave for staying away was a lame one and he had only himself to blame for being brought up before the Court. Although the accused had behaved in a highly suspicious manner, the Court could not see its way to convict him.

Singapore Gets Low Coal Freight

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 23.—The writers of City columns refer to the fall in coal freights and report that 15s. 6d. a ton has been accepted for a voyage from South Wales to Singapore. They say that a good mixture of South Wales coal can now be delivered to the East at 45s. 6d. a ton, at which price British exporters have a distinct advantage in competitive offers. Leading exporters are of the opinion that the selling price of coal in Great Britain now approximates the cost of production and no heavy fall is anticipated in the selling price.

Catalogued for sale 1,433,039 lbs. (about 640 tons).

Offered 1,172,981 lbs. (about 524 tons).

Sold 1,014,107 lbs. (about 453 tons).

The London market has been rather inactive during the week with the tendency downward, while New York has shown a little more interest partly due to the favorable exchange rates.

Our weekly auction opened today to a fair attendance with a good demand lasting throughout the day.

640 tons were catalogued, out of which 524 tons were offered and 453 sold.

Awarded Standard Sheet sold at 28 cents, showing an advance of 1½ cents on the week. This grade was in good demand and a few sellers withdrew their lots at bids of 28 cents.

Sheet equal to Standard was well competed for, advancing 1 to 1½ cents. one lot fetched 28½ cents.

Off Quality Sheet was wanted, the better grades fetching fair prices.

Awarded Standard 1st Latex being in good demand sold up to 29½ cents; this price, however, was only paid for one lot.

Crepe equal to Standard and Off Color Latex found ready buyers at prices about last week's level.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes sold to an interested market at prices slightly up on the week.

N.B.—The above prices for Standard Quality Sheet and Crepe are only paid for small lots at the auctions, whereas bigger quantities in the outside market generally fetch from 1 cent to 1½ above these figures.

Meyer and Measor.

Hankow Market

The British Chamber of Commerce of Hankow state as follows in their weekly circular dated Hankow, August 17:

FINANCE AND MONEY MARKET

Bar silver was quoted in London on the 16th instant at 38d. ready and 37⅝d. forward, net advances of 1⅜d. and 1½d. respectively during the week. Owing to scarcity of supplies coupled with small purchases on both China and India account, the market has ruled firm. The outlook however is uncertain. In sympathy with silver the official quotations have advanced to T.T. 3/9½ and 4 m-s. credits 4/0½. Business has been on a very restricted scale owing chiefly to the political unrest in the Yangtsze valley, and the little that was done has been hampered by the delay in receipt of telegrams. The New York-London cross rate at the week end was reported as 364½. Chinese Market Rates: Shanghai Taels 96.975. Local Currency Dollars 70.2. Native Interest: 7½%.

EXPORTS

With the political situation so uncertain and exchange on the upward grade, business is suffering as a consequence. Tael prices are still maintained here, and it would seem that Home buyers for many lines of China produce are holding off in the hope that lower prices may be obtained later on.

IMPORTS

The political situation is unchanged and has had the effect of completely bringing business to a standstill. There seems to be no sign of an improvement in the immediate future, and the market will doubtless remain in its present state for some time to come.

THAT BACK PAIN OF YOURS

Have You Tried The Remedy That Cured Mr. Reed?

"Exposure to cold and rain while in a run-down condition brought on an attack of lumbago," says Mr. Ricy M. Reed, an employee of the Southern Pacific railroad who lives at No. 3206 San Franco street, Los Angeles, Cal. "There was a dull aching pain across the small of my back. This pain was constant and became especially acute when I stopped over. The pain was worse during damp weather. My appetite was poor and this, coupled with loss of sleep, gradually reduced my strength.

"I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and decided to give the remedy a trial. After five days' treatment I noticed that the pills were helping me for the pains were less severe. I continued the treatment for seven weeks at the end of which time the pain was entirely gone. I can eat a hearty meal now and have gained strength. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all in need of a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are obtainable from your own druggist, or direct by mail, post free, at $1.50 per bottle, $8 for 6 bottles, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai. Write to the same address for free book, "Building Up the Blood."

The typhoon is apparently stopped for some time by the high pressures to the South of the Loochoos. It may fill up there or start again. Variable breezes and local calms along our coasts. Fine and hot weather.

Dr. Schurman's Great Task

WE join with the American community in extending hearty welcome to Jacob Gould Schurman, new American Minister to Peking. We have already dealt with Dr. Schurman's long and distinguished career, both as President of Cornell University and in the diplomatic service of his country, so that there is no need to say more here than that he comes specially qualified, both by mental equipment and experience, to render brilliant service both to his own country and to China at a moment when the circumstances of the hour imperatively demand the best out here that America has to offer.

In six or seven weeks, the great disarmament conference summoned by President Harding will be convened in Washington. The problem of the Pacific will be the most important one discussed at that conference, for upon its satisfactory solution depends the whole issue of disarmament. Therefore we may take it for granted that a very large portion of our new Minister's time, between now and November 11, will be devoted to the acquirement of full information, not only that, but the trend of public opinion, on the problem as seen from this side of the Pacific.

In one way, Dr. Schurman's late arrival will be of advantage to him, for he comes directly from Washington and therefore is in full and intimate possession of the aims and views of the American Administration concerning the Pacific. Another distinct advantage probably will derive from the presence in Washington during the conference of Dr. Schurman's immediate predecessors, Dr. Reinsch and Mr. Crane.

The New York Times discussing Japan's reply to President Harding's invitation, describes it as "unusual and untimely" because she reserved her decision as to the proposed discussion of Pacific and Far Eastern questions, giving as her reason her "special interests." How, we ask, can disarmament be agreed upon, in advance of the settlement of these questions?

The Times goes on to point out that Japan already is under many pledges, publicly given, to observe a policy toward China which, if observed, would be entirely satisfactory to the United States. The Hay doctrine in respect to the "open door" in China has the assent of half a dozen Powers, including Japan. In the Root-Takahira agreement of November, 1908, the two Governments declared their wish "to encourage the free and peaceful development of their commerce on the Pacific Ocean;" they affirmed the policy of defending the principle "of equal opportunity for commerce and industry in China;" and they declared it to be their purpose to support "by all pacific means at their disposal the independence and territorial integrity of China and the principle of equal opportunity for commerce and industry of all nations", in that empire.

The Lansing-Ishii agreement of November, 1917, while recognising "that Japan has special interests in China due to the nearness of their shores to each other" declares that "the territorial sovereignty of China, nevertheless, remains unimpaired, and the Government of the United States has every confidence in the repeated assurances of the Imperial Japanese Government that, while geographical position gives Japan such special interests, they have no desire to discriminate against the trade of other nations or to disregard the commercial rights heretofore granted by China in treaties with other Powers. The Governments of the United States and Japan deny that they have any purpose to infringe in any way the independence or territorial integrity of China, and they declare furthermore that they always adhere to the principle of the 'open door' or equal opportunity in the commerce and industry in China."

It may be predicted that America will dwell with considerable insistence upon the necessity that these existing agreements, or any new one entered into for like purposes, shall be observed in good faith. Generally speaking it seems fairly certain that America cannot emerge from the forthcoming parley without a concrete China policy. What it will be we do not attempt to foretell, but with the formation of that policy, Dr. Schurman will have a great deal to do, and we wish him all success in his labors.

To Gretna Green

BY S. E. KISER

They hurried fast by hill and dale,
Her father in his Ford pursued;
The boy was grim, the girl was pale,
Their roadster seemed with life imbued;
It jumped the ruts and leaped the humps,
They lost no time by shifting gears;
It looked as if they held the trumps—
But up the road were cows and steers.

"To Gretna Green" the guide-board said;
The boy swerved sharply to the right;
The maiden grasped his arm; the dread
That she had felt was put to flight.
"Keep stepping on her, love," she cried;
"We leave him farther every mile."
"If nothing happens," he replied,
"We'll lose him in a little while"

By hill and dale they flitted fast;
The cows came winding down a lane
And halted in the road, at last,
As if intending to remain.
With gladness in his heart the boy
Clung to the wheel, and gave her gas;
The maiden's breast was filled with joy;
The cows stood still and dreamed, alas!

They came upon the stupid herd;
The eager maiden shouted: "Shoo!"
Her lover said a naughty word—
In truth he swore an oath or two.
They heard a jangling at the rear;
It was her father in his Ford,
And while they sat and shrank in fear
He jumped upon their running-board.

He lingered but a moment there,
Then went and drove the cows away;
"Now go ahead," he said, "I'll share
Whatever bill there is to pay,
And here's a license that I got;
I've chased you far, and that is why;
No minister will tie the knot
Unless you've got it—so good bye!"

Industry's New Courts

How Offending Employers And Employes Are Tried By Trade Councils

(New York Times)

A fancy leather goods manufacturer, in the sight of the union and some of his fellow employers, committed a misdemeanor against his employes. Instead of submitting to them a type of work which he felt they would refuse owing to the fact that the price was lower than the one current in the factory, he farmed it out to workers not employed in his shop. At the time the men regularly employed by him were idle.

In all other industries, with but few exceptions, such an occurence would undoubtedly have resulted in a strike on the part of the workers. What happened here? The employer was called to trial before a Joint Grievance Board presided over by an Impartial Chairman. He was represented by the official clerk of the manufacturers' group; the men in his shop were represented by a clerk of the union. Witnesses for both sides were called in to give testimony, and the Impartial Chairman fined the manufacturer a sum equal to the value of the work that was farmed out. It was true, indeed, that the men in the shop would have refused to do the work at the price offered, but the fact remained, as was brought out by the union clerk, that according to agreement all work before being farmed out must be submitted to the workers in the factory.

Organised labor and organised business are today watching with interest this industrial experiment in this city which, it is expected, will mark a distinct advance in labor arbitration. It is not a new one as far as the country is concerned. The clothing workers have since 1911 been operating under such a system.

The fancy leather workers and the silk ribbon workers are today operating under this system of an industrial arbitration court. The silk ribbon workers were the first to adopt it. Previous to this, all their quarrels had been settled in the usual militant manner. The union made a demand; the employers refused to countenance it; result, strike. Or, the employers laid down new rules; the union refused to agree; result, lockout. In both instances, there was loss of work, of money and of amicability.

Last April after much study of the question, four silk ribbon manufacturers and three silk ribbon union locals, members of the Amalgamated Textile workers of America, came to a decision that the time for casting off the old methods of disagreement and the adoption of new methods of agreement had come.

THE IMPARTIAL CHAIRMAN

Most important of all in the new agreement were the creation of the office of Impartial Chairman, the formation of a Trade Council on which were to sit representatives of the union and of the employing body, and the inculcation of a clause in the document which provided for the preferential shop. The duties of the first were those of a judge. "All complaints, disputes and grievances arising between the parties hereto," read this section of the clause, "shall be submitted to the Impartial Chairman, either on appeal as hereinafter provided, or for determination in the first instance."

The Trade Council consisted of one representative from each of the factories entering into the agreement. In case the number of manufacturers grew, six men were to be chosen from the total number. The union was to be represented by as many weavers or workmen as there were employers representatives.

Preference in employment, discharge and distribution of work was covered by the preferential clause. Union members were to get first choice. When the employer, after applying to the union for helpers, could not fill his looms he was at liberty to hire what men he chose.

Charles B. Barnes of this city, who had previously been the Impartial Chairman for the Garment Industry in Cleveland, and later in the clothing industry of Montreal, Canada, was chosen by both sides as the Impartial Chairman. His salary and expenses were paid, half and half, by the employers and the union.

So well did the Trade Council, presided over by the Impartial Chairman, function for the silk ribbon trade that in August the Fancy Leather Workers decided to adopt the same plan. It may be interesting to note that this industry for a number of years had the reputation of being one of the most progressive in the field of industrial reform. At the time it was decided to adopt the Impartial Chairman machinery it already had evolved a method of settling disputes without resorting to the strike or lockout. Their agreement, dated August 20, 1920, read in part as follows:

"Each of the parties hereto shall forthwith appoint three representatives, and the six persons so appointed shall constitute a board to be known as the Joint Grievance Board, for the hearing and determination of all claims arising hereunder between the parties. The determination of this board in all matters shall be conclusive upon the parties hereto. In the event of there being an equal division of opinion between the members of the board, the matter in dispute shall be submitted for determination to an impartial umpire mutually agreed upon by both sides, whose decision shall be binding on the parties. It shall be the duty of the Grievance Board to enforce compliance with the terms of this contract."

Up to the time of the creation of the office of the Impartial Chairman the leather workers, as stated, had worked with a Joint Grievance Board. Inasmuch, however, as the problems that came up were many, and the settlement of them devolved upon the agreement of everybody sitting on the board, it was decided to expedite matters by placing the duty of decisions into the hands of one man. The same man, Charles B. Barnes, was asked to serve as Impartial Chairman for this industry.

Mr. Barnes was asked the other day how the system worked and what part he played in the business of making each side of the industrial tangle get the viewpoint of the other.

"No case comes to me," he began, "that can be settled out of court. What I mean is that every shop has its own machinery to settle minor disputes. A man can appeal directly to his foreman or he can appeal through the union official or shop chairman. If, however, they cannot come to an agreement then the two Chief Clerks are called in, one representing the employers' group and the other the union. If they cannot come to an agreement which is satisfactory to everybody concerned, the case is brought before the Impartial Chairman and a hearing is held with such witnesses as are necessary.

"In obtaining evidence, as little of court formality as is possible is used. Personally, I believe in allowing the workers to tell their grievances freely and fully. I do not bar out hearsay. If they are not permitted free expression, the workers feel that they are unfairly dealt with. The psychological element must

SUMMER STORIES

As a matter of fact these stories are not necessarily Summer stories except that some are mine and some are not, but they may provide a chuckle or two to combat the weather.

PET PUNETTES

"Do you know Annie?"
"No, Annie who?"
"Tee hee! Anybody."

TUMMY TROUBLE

A young and nervous curate had to discourse one morning upon the vicissitudes of Jonah and the whale. "And for three days and three nights," he began, "Jonah was in the—" He blushed, stammered, stopped, and then started again. "For three days and three nights Jonah was in the—" once again he was covered with confusion and mopped his face. Then he gathered his courage in both hands and with a mighty effort he finished triumphantly: "And for three days and three nights Jonah was in the society of the whale."

A PIOUS COALMAN

A little boy said to his father on his arrival home from office: "Oh, daddy. The man has brought the coals. And he is such a good man."

The father looked puzzled. "Yes," continued the boy, "he was lifting the sack from the cart when the horse moved and caused him to drop the coals on the pavement. He just sat down and told God all about it."

HAVE CATS GOT FEATHERS

The teacher in an East-end school of London was taking the infant class in natural history.

"Now children," she said, "this afternoon you shall tell me all you know about cats. Now first of all, has a cat got feathers?"

There was a silence for a few seconds. Then a little boy in the back row said, in a withering tone of disgusted amazement: "For 'eaven's sake teacher ain't you never seen a cat."

WHY?

A young Sunday school teacher had a good deal of trouble with one of her pupils. He was warned again and again but without much result. At last the teacher losing patience said: "Johnny, I'm afraid we shall not meet in Heaven." Little Johnny, looking very innocent replied: "Won't we mum? Lor, what have you bin doin'?"

A RUBBER NECK

In America, if anyone is curious or inquisitive and tries to find out anything and everything about everybody, they call the inquisitive one "rubberneck." (This little explanation is for the benefit of folk who don't come from the Land of Prohibition.)

An Englishman in New York got into a tramcar and sat opposite a woman who had a very peculiar looking baby in her arms. The Englishman could not keep his eyes away from it. He would look at it, look away, and then look at it again. It was ugly!

Finally the mother became very annoyed at his rudeness, and leaned over and said to him in a whisper: "Rubber!"

A look of relief came over the Englishman's face as he exclaimed: "Thank Heaven, Madam. I thought it was real!"

PRECEPT AND PRACTICE

One of Neil Kenyon's favorite stories concerns a little Scottish laddie, Wee Willie Macgregor, who returned home after his first day at school.

When his father came back from work that evening he asked the young scholar what he had learned.

"I learned to say 'Yes ma'am' and 'No sir' to me mither and feyther," replied the boy.

"Did you indeed!" said the father.

"Aye!" responded Willie.

QUITE SIMPLE

"I would like you to teach me to sail a boat," said the visitor.

"Sail a boat!" said the boatman. "Why, it's easy as swimmin'. Jest grasp the main sheet with one hand, an' the tiller with the other, an' if a squall strikes, easy up and bring her to, an' loose the halyards, but look out fer the gaff and boom, or the hull thing'll be in the water, an' ye'll be upset; an' if the wind is steady yer all right, onless yer too slow in luffin', 'cause then ye'll be upset sure. Jump right in an' try it; but remember, whatever you do don't gibe!"

"COMMANDER" Stories

There was a country house party at which the principal guest was the Bishop of the diocese.

Among the servants was a small boy from the village who had been trained as page boy.

His mistress bade him be careful always to address the bishop as 'My Lord', and told him to practise saying it over to himself.

The morning after the prelate's arrival the boy took the hot water up and knocked at the door.

"Yes, who's there?" came from within—

"The Lord, my boy!"

Industry's New Courts

have consideration. More often than I expected, I find that merely getting a chance to air the grievance tends to a settlement of the matter. One side gets the point of view of the other.

"After all witnesses have been heard, the Chief Clerks, who are comparable to lawyers in a real court, make their arguments. These arguments are extremely helpful, especially when they involve technicalities of the work. When I find that the case seems to be evenly balanced, that is, when the six faults of one are equal to half a dozen of the other, I call the Chief Clerks into private conference and try to get them to agree to a decision in which both parties must yield something of their demands. It is important for the Chief Clerks to know all the reasons for a decision, for it is they who see that the sentences are carried out. It has been my policy to write out a tentative decision which I submit to the representatives of both sides. If they have further arguments, I listen to them. If not, I make the decision valid by affixing my signature to it.

FINES GO INTO TRUST FUND

"If a firm or a member of the union fails to obey the decision rendered it may be and is necessary sometimes to bring the pressure of the Manufacturers' Association on the firm and, in the case of the union, it may be necessary to discipline the individual worker or group of workers until they comply with the order issued. All fines are paid into the trust fund of the Grievance Board. The fines of the unions are entered into the account of the employers; the fines of the employers are entered for the union. One profits by the misdemeanors of the other.

"Through the decisions and orders rendered by the Impartial Chairmen throughout the country, there is being built up a code of industrial common law for the various industries pretty much in the same manner as our Anglo-Saxon system of jurisprudence was built up.

"The chief merit of a collective bargaining agreement with impartial machinery of this kind is its educational value. In the discussions at the meetings of the Trades Councils and in the hearing of cases, employers get a better understanding of the attitude of the employes and a fuller realisation of their difficulties in carrying on their work and in the holding together and upbuilding of their organisation. The employes on their part, get an understanding of the difficulties which the employer encounters in carrying on his business and a realisation that his pathway is not all lined with roses.

"With the elimination of the old system of fighting, the leaders of the union are left with more time to do constructive work along the lines of building up a co-operative organisation instead of preparing a regiment for battle. The types of labor union leaders are changing. Today the leader has got to fight with his mind instead of his fists. Formerly when half a dozen or more workers had a grievance they walked out of the shop and stayed out until they could force the employer to come to terms. Under the new system, it is often difficult for the men to understand that they must stay on the job and submit their grievance first to their union representative and later, perhaps to the Impartial Chairman, but it is done.

"Nor is it only on the union's side that such trouble exists. Too many of the employers who join with others of their association in collective bargaining of this kind are still living under the old idea of arrogant and autocratic control. It will take time for all to understand how important is the step they are taking, but the effort at this sort of education is well worth while."
